Where should a fish tank be kept?

You should keep your tank somewhere accessible. It must be in a place that's easy for you to reach. You definitely don't want your aquarium to be encased or tucked away on a tall shelf. There should be enough space for you to reach around the sides and in the back of the aquarium.

How to keep a fish safe in an aquarium?

But you can't compromise on any of these if you want your tank and the fish to be safe. To sum it all up, you should keep your aquarium in a quiet, low-traffic area with constant temperature and good ventilation. The aquarium should also be perfectly level and the floor should be strong enough to support its weight.

How to keep a fish tank in a dark room?

It's best to keep your tank in a darker room and use aquarium lights throughout the day. You might be tempted to put your aquarium somewhere where you can conceal all the blocky equipment like filters, lights, air pumps, and so on. However, this will only make your job harder in the future.

Can you put a fish tank on furniture?

Most medium and large aquariums can be purchased with a cabinet that's been specifically constructed to hold the tank when it's full of water. Never put a fish tank on a piece of standard household furniture. Regular furniture is not built to take that amount of weight and may collapse under the strain.
