

Crystal plus battery Brazil

Does the crystal plus have a rechargeable battery?

It comes available with removeable prefilled/refillable pods and has a 400mAh rechargeable battery. This means no more throwing the whole device away when you run out of juice or battery! Add to this the inclusion of variable airflow and the Crystal Plus looks to raise the bar in several very important ways.

How much does crystal plus cost?

A quick google search shows it's readily available and for a reasonably good price. For a kit containing the Crystal Plus device and 2 prefilled pods you can expect to pay around £9.99. For a pack of 2 prefilled pods the average price seems to be £5.99, with plenty of deals available if you buy a higher quantity!

How much does a crystal plus vape cost?

For a pack of 2 prefilled pods the average price seems to be £5.99, with plenty of deals available if you buy a higher quantity! This makes the Crystal Plus a fairly economical way to vape. It's also worth remembering a refillable pod can be used with the Crystal Plus to make things even cheaper!

Is the crystal plus a pod vape?

Throw in its compact dimensions and impressively lightweight construction, and the Crystal Plus becomes a pod vape that's got all the perks of a disposable vape without any of that eco-guilt.

Does the crystal plus have a Type-C charging port?

With the Crystal Plus you'll now find a Type-C charging port along with a slider to adjust the airflow from a tight mouth-to-lung (MTL) draw, all the way up to a restricted direct-to-lung (RDTL) draw. While I'll talk more about the performance of the airflow later on, suffice to say it elevates an already great design!

How do I recharge my crystal plus?

When the Crystal Plus does run out of battery the LED on the bottom of the device will flash 10 times in quick succession. To recharge the Plus you simply plug a suitable Type-C USB cable into the charge port on the bottom. All told the recharge time is around the 45 minute mark which is a reasonably quick recharge for a pod vape.
