

The project is funded by grants from ADB and the Strategic Climate Fund, and by funding from the Solomon Islands Government (SIG). The project involves installation of solar-diesel hybrid systems with battery (energy) storage at Solomon Power's provincial power stations to reduce reliance on diesel usage.

The Solomon Islands Renewable Energy Development Project will fund the construction of two photovoltaic (PV) parks and a large-scale grid-connected energy storage system in the Solomon Islands with financing provided by the Asian Development Bank, the Saudi Fund for Development and Solomon Power.

The project will finance new solar farms in Guadalcanal and Malaita province, along with a utility-scale grid-connected energy storage system in Honiara. Nearly all of Solomon Islands' grid power is diesel generated.

The Asian Development Bank (ADB) has approved financing to support the conversion of electricity networks in five provinces of the Solomon Islands almost entirely to solar power; with the assistance of battery storage. The Solar Power Development Project will see grid-connected solar farms constructed in Kirakira, Lata, Malu'u, Munda, and Tulagi.

Solomon Islands install solar power hybrid grids, including battery storage, to replace diesel generation. Following the project, an estimated 78% of power generated at the five targeted provincial grids will be from solar power. Project preparatory technical assistance was used in project preparation.^{1 2}.
