

Tax items for electricity sales of solar power

Do I have to pay tax on solar panels?

Normally, you won't get charged VAT or income tax on this payment if you produce electricity primarily for your own home. However, for businesses and commercial properties, the money made from solar panels, including feed-in tariffs, might be subject to taxes.

How are solar panels taxed in the UK?

The way solar panel income is taxed in the UK varies based on installation and usage. If you have a domestic installation and are signed up to an export tariff (e.g. like the Smart Export Guarantee), you'll get paid for the surplus electricity you send back to the grid.

What information is included in a solar panel tax report?

The report also gives some information relating to VAT on solar panels and Feed-in Tariff. Important notice: The above report is given as generally and publically available information not as tax advice.

Do you pay tax on solar roofs?

Companies that invest in solar roofs or other setups will only pay corporation tax on their profits minus half of the value of the equipment installed, deducted through capital allowance. For example, if a business invests £300,000 in installing a solar power system, it will be entitled to a 50% capital tax allowance of £150,000.

Do I have to pay income tax if I generate electricity?

Where the generation tariff is received by an individual, other than in a business capacity, and it is not chargeable as miscellaneous income, no Income Tax liability will arise. This will usually be the case where an individual generates electricity mainly for use in their own home.

Are solar panels tax deductible?

From a tax perspective, solar panels, battery storage - and all necessary infrastructure/works needed for installation (for example, wiring, roof strengthening, groundworks) - are classed as trading assets, so qualify for certain tax reliefs in a similar way to other assets, such as farm machinery.
