EV battery packs and home battery packs are not so different. Both typically use a big pile of lithium-ion cells to store energy. In cars, they're used to get us around, while at home, they're used to run our appliances and store energy sourced from solar panels. One point of difference is that home packs [...]

But as more solar brands and models come onto the market, finding the right energy storage solution for your home can feel a little daunting. Especially when trying to grapple with the ins and outs of solar battery efficiency and capacity. That's why Canstar has compiled a list of the best home solar battery systems available in New Zealand.

Lead Acid Batteries. Lead acid batteries were once the go-to choice for solar storage (and still are for many other applications) simply because the technology has been around since before the American Civil War. However, this battery type falls short of lithium-ion and LFP in almost every way, and few (if any) residential solar batteries are made with this chemistry.

We're totally used to carrying battery packs to recharge our phones and laptops, but what about powering your home? That's where oversized powerpacks like Anker's new Solix F3800 come in. They can keep you running during summer power outages caused by air-conditioners overloading the grid and smooth the intermittent supply from home solar.
